SpeakHaven is an application that allows you to instantly speak text you highlight in any window. Version 1.0 Version 1.0 SpeakHaven Speaks selected text on the clipboard to the application window you highlight it. There is no keyboard shortcut. It does not have a program icon so you must right-click on a window for the option. SpeakHaven is built upon the premise that there is nothing like it in the Microsoft Windows operating system. It uses a solution that combines the greatest benefits of other third party products while introducing a few unique ideas of its own. SpeakHaven is a program that has been designed with the user in mind; SpeakHaven attempts to maximize the effectiveness of any application it is used with. It works perfectly with both Windows and Mac. SpeakHaven Instruction To Use 1. Choose the Application that you want to be spoken on. 2. Click on the window. 3. You may highlight text in the window. 4. SpeakHaven speaks what you selected. 0 comments: Post a Comment Hiding comments was never an option for SpeakHaven. And, it's unlikely to happen in the future. As there's no way for an user to block individual comments. There are more than 50000 words in SpeakHaven. And there're more than 30000 tweets in SpeakHaven. So, it's impossible for any spkr to moderate all the comments. You have to seek for answer by reading or chatting with other users. I don't have any problem with having all the comments in the website. I have a problem with a user bashing other. The worst of the users is not the users or the people who make the comments. It's the posters who have a problem with their own incompetence. Some of the posts on this site are amazing. And, some are just incredibly funny. We have a serious case of personality disorder that the computer is catching. Hiding comments could be a good option for the people who can't deal with the free speech.

SpeakHaven is a free Windows utility that lets you type any text in any Windows application and have that text spoken. Simply highlight any text in the application, type your text and send it to SpeakHaven. SpeakHaven then takes care of the rest by speaking the text in the application via your Windows speaker. You can type whatever text you want, even if the application doesn't have a keyboard shortcut. Once you are done typing, hit Enter to stop speaking, or click the button to have the application respond to the text spoken. The application will only take up one KB of RAM and will be completely invisible. It supports all platforms, including Windows 8, Windows 7, Vista and XP. Note: It works only if the application is made for Windows. Read more in the feature description.
